STRAIGHT FROM SEMA 2009

For truck enthusiasts, the first week of November is something we all look forward to. That's because our nation's biggest automotive aftermarket product exhibition, known as the SEMA show, is annually held in Las Vegas during that time. Not only is there a vast amount of insanely wild vehicles to drool over, but there are always many new, innovative products to get excited about, too. Though there were fewer companies at this year's show due to the weakened economy, we still found plenty of cool new parts. So check 'em out.
